8:30 am—Registration and Continental Breakfast

9:30-10:30 am—Organizing the Defense of the Construction Defect Mold Case

This session will focus on the initial handling and organization of a construction defect mold case from the perspective of both the developer/general contractor and subcontractor. The panel will also discuss how the new Calderon law (Civil Code Section 1375, operative July 1, 2002) impacts the initial handling of these claims. Tyler Berding, Berding & Weil; Thomas Castle, Griffiths, Castle and Schwartzman; and William Peters, Gordon & Rees.

10:30-10:45 am—Break

10:45-11:45 am—Discovery, Experts, Evidence

The panel will address issues relating to the types of experts that should be retained, the scope of expert investigation, preservation of evidence and coordination of testing with plaintiffs. Richard Avelar, AIA, Avelar & Associates; David Kahane, Certified Industrial Hygienist, Forensic Analytical; Julie McElroy, Jacobsen & McElroy; and moderator Dave Henningsen.

12:00 noon-1:00 pm—Lunch

Discussion of current and proposed legislation relating to mold claims. Senator Deborah Ortiz (invited) and Mike Belote, California Advocates, Inc. (Legislative Advocate for the California Defense Counsel).

1:30-2:30 pm—Mold Personal Injury Update: Discovery and Trial Issues

This panel will focus on the personal injury mold case. The panel will discuss discovery and pretrial orders, medical experts, causation and Kelly-Frye Motions and recent mold trials across the country. Susan Hickman, Hinshaw & Culbertson; John Miller, Charter Miller Davis; Christopher Lozano, McCormick, Barstow, Sheppard, Wayte & Carruth; and Mike Pietrykowsky, Gordon & Rees.

2:30-3:00 pm—Break

3:00-4:00 pm—Roundtable Discussion

The handling of the combined construction defect and mold case. The panelists from the above sessions along with moderator, Sandy Kaplan, will discuss the many issues and complexities that arise when a construction defect case and personal injury mold case are consolidated into one action. Both plaintiff and defense lawyers will participate in the discussion and will address such issues as trial bifurcation, expert testimony, statute of limitations, and presentation of evidence.
